2021 applications: Officially open

The applications for our 2021 Research Prize and Research Fellowship are now open!

In these difficult times, we are glad to be able to support researchers' careers and to continue to foster science and research. Both applications remain open until April 30, 2021.

Become UEG Research Prize awardee in 2021

UEG awards € 100,000 each year for excellence in basic science, translational or clinical research.

By donating this prize, we support a future scientific research project from early stage to successful conclusion. The prize addresses well-established researchers at the height of their active career, whose science has had or will have a crucial impact on digestive health.

In 2020, Stefan Schreiber was awarded the distinguished Prize for his outstanding project “Therapeutic mechanisms of controlled-ileocolonic-release nicotinamide (CICR-NAM) in IBD” during an exclusive session in the TV Studio at UEG Week Virtual.

Advance your scientific career – go next level

UEG supports young promising researchers, giving you the opportunity to develop a basic or clinical research project and improve your scientific skills.

UEG awards € 50,000 to the selected researcher to spend 12 months working with a renowned European principal investigator. The fellowship is highly recommended for young researchers who are not in a position to develop their ideas where they work.

Chloé Melchior, UEG Research Fellow 2020, started her fellowship in August at the Department of Internal Medicine and Clinical Nutrition of Sahlgrenska Academy, University of Gothenburg, Sweden. Together with her host Magnus Simrén, she will carry out a research project on, “a new gas-sensing capsule to understand the mechanisms of fructan-induced symptoms in IBS, and the link to gut microbiota composition and function”.
